ABOUT ABS

ABS, or American Building Supply, began in 1985 when it acquired a small family-owned building products company in Sacramento, California. They quickly introduced an innovative overnight loading program, which was a novel concept in the market at the time. This program allowed ABS to guarantee next-day delivery, setting it apart from its competitors. This customer-focused approach helped establish ABS's presence in the market and set a new standard for the industry. With locations in California, Arizona, Washington, Colorado, and Texas, ABS remains an industry leader in the business-to-business material supply chain for door-related products. ABS and its employees operate six distribution centers and two manufacturing facilities in five states. ABS also maintains a fleet of delivery trucks that safely drive over 5 million miles per year.

After 35 years in business, ABS continues to remain committed to delivering unwavering and impeccable service to our valued customers, 100% of the time. In 2020, ABS became a wholly-owned subsidiary of JELD-WEN Windows and Doors and is one of the nation's largest wholesale distributors and manufacturers of quality doors, door hardware, windows, and millwork. We proudly manufacture products under the registered trademarks of Millennium Door® and Doormerica® Products. The Doormerica brand represents quality products for our markets with MDF (simulated Stile and Rail doors), and Architectural Flush Wood doors.

FEATURING ALL THE BRANDS YOU TRUST

For decades, ABS has been a solutions provider to the multifamily industry, your partner providing beauty, safety, and security through a comprehensive door and door hardware portfolio. You can be assured that the products you receive from ABS brands and partners will be the right fit, form, and stylish function at the right price to make every project a success.

ARCHITECTURAL STYLES

Architectural door styles go beyond being just entrances and exits; they serve as gateways that transport you to a realm of elegance, classic design, and unmatched artistry. By paying close attention to every intricate detail, these doors seamlessly blend architectural features with aesthetic appeal, enhancing the atmosphere of any indoor or outdoor space.

Traditional

Choosing a door for your home can be overwhelming, but there's a reason why certain styles have stood the test of time — they bring an elegance to your living space and create a cohesive look. Keep things classy and timeless with tried and true door styles for your home.

- Varying design elements influenced by historic architecture
- Simple, clean rooflines
- Stone, stucco, or brick exterior
- Symmetrically-spaced windows
- Modestly overhanging eaves
- At least one front-facing gable

Craftsman

Craftsman style doors offer a unique decorative look to complement a variety of architectural home styles. Whether you have a Craftsman, cottage, bungalow, or prairie style home you'll appreciate the combination of modern and classic elements in these versatile door designs.

- Covered front porch
- Pillars lining entry
- Natural materials mixed with shingles, wood, vinyl siding
- Patterned window panes
- Low-pitched gable (triangular) roofs

Southwest

Southwestern style gathers its inspiration from the desert palette, Spanish textiles, adobe houses, ironwork, and nature. Leather, suede, and loads of texture in shades of rust, terra-cotta, cactus green, and bulky furnishings are a great foundation for celebrating Southwestern style.

- Stucco walls
- Wrought iron details (doors, windows, railings)
- Courtyards
- Clay roof tiles (terracotta roofs)
- Arches
- Wooden beams
- Balconies
- Colors and textures of the earth

Transitional

At its heart, Transitional architecture is a fusion of modern and traditional styles. Classic architecture, also known as traditional architecture, emphasizes balance and symmetry, with natural shapes and straightforward proportions and structure. On the other hand, transitional architecture achieves a harmonious combination of traditional and modern aesthetics, creating a welcoming and unified environment.

- Varying design elements influenced by historic architecture
- Simple, clean rooflines
- Stone, stucco, or brick exterior
- Symmetrically-spaced windows
- Modestly overhanging eaves
- At least one front-facing gable

Modern

Modern homes are characterized by a minimalist design that emphasizes function. They are recognizable for their rectangular forms, lack of adornment, and whitewashed exteriors. Many modern homes were built with the landscape in mind. For instance, the lines of a roof or overhang might reflect the lines of natural surroundings. Modern homes further incorporate an appreciation of nature with horizontal compositions built low to the ground and expansive glass windows or walls.

- Rectangular forms
- Low, horizontal composition
- Large glass windows
- Natural materials like wood
- Emphasis on nature

FIBERGLASS

A new fiberglass entry door can add substantial curb appeal to your home. Fiberglass wood textured doors features the look and feel of real wood but requires very little maintenance and is resistant to warping, rotting, denting, or splitting. Fiberglass exterior doors are made from two large, molded sides that are filled in the center with a polyurethane or polystyrene foam core that insulates the door against extreme temperatures. This manufacturing process makes fiberglass one of the most durable and energy-efficient options on the market.

DRS49/SL500 with Hampshire glass

- Composite capped LVL stiles prevent water infiltration and ensure that the door will never wrap, rot, or rust.
- The fiberglass-reinforced skin is built to withstand any conditions without denting or delaminating.
- The insulated core is 100% CFC-Free and provides high R-Value for thermal protection.
- Composite top and bottom rails prevent water infiltration on all six sides.
- Available in smooth and wood grain designs.
- Limited Lifetime Warranty*

Oak

The intricate beauty of an Oak wood grain door is truly unparalleled. The natural variations in color and texture create a sense of depth and character that is simply unmatched. The timeless allure of Oak grain has ensured it remains a popular look for doors, furniture, flooring, and cabinetry.

Fir

The unique grain pattern of Fir offers a tight, straight, and uniform appearance with little variation. Often finished with neutral stain colors to highlight the graining, these doors are considered a universal and timeless option for a wide variety of architectural styles.

We can respond quickly and efficiently if you provide the following: a) date and location of purchase, or product identification from the tag on the top edge of the slab, b) how to contact you, c) the address where the product can be inspected, and d) a description of the apparent problem and the product (photographs are helpful).

What We Will Do

Upon receiving your notification, we will send out an acknowledgement within three business days to the contact, which you have provided. We will investigate your claim and will begin to take appropriate action within 30 days after receipt of notification. If your warranty claim is denied, we may charge an inspection fee for an onsite inspection that is required or requested by you.

If your claim is approved, and we choose to repair or replace the product or a component of the product, the replacement product/component will be provided in the same specification as the original product or its nearest equivalent current product. Replacement products, components and services are warranted for the balance of the original product or service warranty, or 90 days, whichever is longer.

If the claimed nonconformity is warp of a door slab, we may defer repairing or replacing the door slab for a period up to 12 months from the date of claim. It is not uncommon for a temporary warp condition to occur as the door slab adjusts to local humidity and temperature conditions. This deferral will not be counted against the warranty period.
